'S'no Joke...

Last week's snow storm banished thoughts of running our Mystery Shopping trip for the kids and Pre-Pesach Seminar for adults. We are in the midst of consultations regarding potential dates for the kids. It is likely that adults would benefit from the extra time to do their Pesach prep and individual questions are most welcome. Email the Rav at mosherosenberg1@gmail.com.

Community Seder

We are delighted to announce that Etz Chaim Community Seder, led each year by Rabbi Rosenberg and his family, will take place on Friday night, March 30th, the first night of Pesach. The cost will be $55 for adults and $35 for children. Subsidies will be available for those who need them. To reserve, contact Danny Noble (917-548-4698) or Shoshana Ruby (shoedeb@hotmail.com) Take a look at the article in the latest Queens Jewish Link about the Seder.

The Sale of Hametz

As always, the Rabbi is available to help facilitate the sale of Hametz for you. Forms are available in the shul lobby or directly from the Rabbi. They have also been emailed together with the Pesach info. The Rabbi is available at tefilah times (with the exception of tomorrow morning, March 25th,) and at home – but please call first.

Calling all Visitors!

We treasure the Torah of special guests who spend Yom Tov with us and especially the Torah of our own young people who have developed to the stage of being able to teach others. If you are expecting such a guest or know of such a young person, please bring them to my attention so that I can incorporate their talents into our Yom Tov schedule.

Looking for a New Haggadah?

If, like me, you enjoy celebrating each Pesach by learning from a new Haggadah commentary, permit me to help you with your hunting. First, you can't beat the price of Hebrewbooks.org, which has hundreds of Haggadot available online for free. Here's a link. Second, there is an amazing bookseller who has a store on ebay with 1000 reasonably priced Haggadot. Here is a link.

Keep the Premises Pesach-dig

We've been cleaning the shul premises and getting them in prime Pesach condition. We ask your cooperation in not bringing Hametz to shul, even for your child, unless you are comfortable with having the food consumed outside of the building.

Shir HaShirim

Assignments of Perakim in Shir Hashirim were sent out last week to young men in the congregation and we look forward to hearing the fruits of their preparation. A few perakim remain. If you know of a young man who would like to read and has not been given a perek, please be in touch with the Rabbi.

If any young women would like to learn how to read Shir HaShirim, please also be in touch.

Pesach Schedule

The entire Pesach schedule is available on a separate sheet accompanying the email bulletin. Hard copies are available in the shul lobby.
