Shiur HaChodesh for Women by Women

The Shiur HaChodesh has concluded its sessions for this season and is already hard at work lining up shiurim and sponsors for next year. For information, contact Hadassah Waxman. We thank Hadassah and her committee for their extraordinary dedication to making each class of this series a smashing success. As we see other communities adopting this model of Talmud Torah and national organizations offering grants for congregations to begin such programs, we realize how fortunate we have been that our hard working coordinators have blazed such an impressive trail.

Navigating the Medical System

In the final session of the year, Dr. Barry Kaplan, Clinical Assoc. Prof. of Oncology at Weill-Cornell, and Dr. Beth Siegel, Director of Breast Services at NYP/Q, discussed advances in cancer immunotherapy and breast cancer. This session completed yet another season of crucial briefings on issues of concern to the community. Our sincerest thanks go to Dr. Mel Breite for once again leveraging his reputation and contacts to bring us the top people in each field to share such important information. We are especially appreciative to Howard (and Shani) Schoenfeld for making themselves available to handle the technical side of our events, ensuring their success.

In Two Weeks: Scholar-in-Residence

We look forward to spending Shabbat Balak, June 29-30 with Rabbi Yehoshua Grunstein of the Strauss-Amiel Institute for the training of Rabbis, whose visits always provide us with inspiration and the latest briefings in halakhic areas and news from Israel. This year, Rabbi Grunstein's topics will include:

Shabbat morning Derasha- Israel at 70; still the "Dawning of our Redemption"?
Shabbat Shuir before Mincha- Can I Disagree with a "Gadol"?
Shabbat after Mincha/at Seuda Shlishit- "Glatt Kosher"- Limited to Food?

And Now For Something Totally Different

Something remarkable happened in our building last Monday evening. A student of our own Stephen Feder was examined by his teacher and by the founder and sensei of the Tora Dojo Jewish Karate Association, Dr. Chaim Sober to determine if he qualified for a black belt. The program, in addition to the awarding of the belt and accompanying certificate from China, featured stunning performances by Steve Feder and others in the martial arts. With their permission, we hope to post some of those performances on our website. The talent, grace, discipline, and respect on display was very inspirational.

Now's the Time

With the summer upon us, now is the best time to suggest programs, shiur topics, and other ways of enhancing life at Etz Chaim. The summer is when a great deal of the planning for the coming year takes place and your involvement makes it all happen. Please consider joining a committee or working on an event. Contact President Alan Sherman or the Rabbi.
